However, little evidence supports the efficacy and safety of FCA. Acupuncture can help strengthen your immune system so that you go in for surgery as planned and recover as quickly as possible. It will decrease postoperative pain and side effects. Getting acupuncture after surgery can help relieve postoperative pain. Plastic Surgeons use sub-sensory current (microcurrent) for scar reduction treatment after cosmetic surgery to accelerate healing. Microcurrent is highly recommended as a post operative cosmetic surgery treatment. Clients see their results sooner than those who that do not use microcurrent.
