For Static-99R, the recidivism criterion is considered a new charge or conviction for a sex offence. Note, however, that roughly half of the samples included in the normative data for the scale did not have access to charges and used solely convictions. Where available though, charges were used. Since the last version of the Coding Rules. The most obvious change in the layout of the STATIC-99 is the slight modification of three of the items to make them more understandable. In addition, the order in which the items appear on the Coding Form has been changed. Static-99R applies where there is reason to believe an actual sex offence has occurred (see pages 25 to 33) with an identifiable victim (see page 92) and the offender has received a charge or conviction (see pages 33 to 43). Static-99R Update. 1. *General Scoring Issues. ?Stick to the Coding Rules even if they may not make sense to you. They are written that way for a reason to match the data sets on which the instrument was developed (Ex. Indecent Exposure scores a 6 and Child Molest scores a 2).
